

7th GEAR Quarterly Lecture

Granular Credit Risk

Wednesday 13 September 2023 | 3:30-5:00 pm
Henley Business School, Room G10, Whiteknights Campus

SPEAKER:

Professor H el ene Rey, London Business School and CEPR

We are delighted to invite you to participate in the forthcoming GEAR Quarterly Lecture organised by the Group for Economic Analysis at Reading (GEAR) at the Department of Economics of the University of Reading. GEAR covers the core topics in microeconomics, macroeconomics and econometrics, as well as modern extensions, with particular application to policymaking at global, national or local level. The lectures were inaugurated in the first quarter of 2022, and are held every quarter as a hybrid event via MS Teams. Attendance is free. To register your interest, email n.a.humphrey@reading.ac.uk or a.mihailov@reading.ac.uk

H el ene Rey is the Lord Bagri Professor of Economics at London Business School. Until 2007, she was Professor at Princeton University. Her research focuses on the determinants and consequences of external trade and financial imbalances, the theory and empirics of financial crises and the organization of the international monetary system. She demonstrated that gross external asset positions of countries help predict current account adjustments and the exchange rate. She introduced the concept of Global Financial Cycles and qualified the idea of the Mundellian Trilemma. She has been awarded many prestigious prizes. Professor Rey is an elected Fellow of the British Academy, of the Econometric Society, of the European Economic Association, of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, Foreign Honorary Member of the American Economic Association, a correspondant of the Acad mie des Sciences Morales et Politiques. She was made O.B.E for services to economics. She was on the board of the Review of Economic Studies (2008-2015) and an associate editor of the American Economic Journal: Macroeconomics. She is a co-editor of the Annual Review of Economics, a Research Fellow and Vice President of CEPR and an NBER Research Associate. She has been elected President of the European Economic Association. H el ene Rey received her undergraduate degree from ENSAE, a Master in Engineering Economic Systems from Stanford University and her PhDs from the London School of Economics and the Ecole des Hautes Etudes en Sciences Sociales.
